

Hungate Garden Project

We were joined by a new recruit to the working party, Darryl, last Sunday. He gave us some much-needed brawn, as well as his brains, to help with the continuing garden construction.

Further progress was made on the pond, finishing the stabilisation of the edges and laying an old carpet to protect the pond liner. A slight glitch with the liner meant that we could not fill the pond as planned, but that should be ready for next time.

Ted brought a generator which enabled us to use a power tool to excavate the remaining holes for the greenhouse supports. These are now in place ready for the frame supporting the plastic bottles.

We also started to add horse manure to the raised beds. Thankfully we have a plentiful supply as lots will be needed.

Our next working days will be Sunday 30th September and Sunday 7th October.

If you can lend a hand on Sunday, between 10am and 4pm, we would be very grateful for the help.
